

Casual position available at Priam Psittaculture Centre

The facility focuses on threatened and critically endangered species, in particular parrots, through research and breeding. The facility is located in Bungendore, NSW approximately 30 minutes from the centre of Canberra. We are looking for a suitable applicant that is committed to pursuing a career in animal husbandry/species conservation/biology. The applicant must have an interest in animals and be looking for a long-term position. No prior experience with parrots is necessary as we will provide all training, however experience working with animals or a relevant qualification such as Animal Technician, Captive Animal Management, or a Science Degree is preferred.

The applicant must be reliable and responsible with a strong work ethic. Duties include food preparation, feeding and aviary maintenance. The applicant MUST have their own car and a current driver's licence, as there is no public transport to or near the facility. The applicant will need to be physically fit with a high level of endurance and able to work outdoors in extreme weather conditions at times. The applicant must also be available for early starts at 6:30am, available on weekends and public holidays.

The number of hours available for work will depend on the applicant's availability and may be flexible. Starting hours will be 15-20 hours per week, however this is a performance-based position and more hours can be made available to hard-working individuals. To apply for this position please email your current resume including two referee contact phone numbers.

Close of submission is the 30th June, 2017.
